Sorted by date and rating. Shah Rukh Khan is an Indian film actor who has established himself as one of the most popular and influential actors of his time. He is the recipient of numerous awards and honours, including the Padma Bhushan award. He is the highest-paid Bollywood actor, earning $1million per film. His debut film, Raja Hindustani, was released in 1988. Bollywood (; Hindi: Bollywood, बॉलिवुड), also known as Hindi film or Hindi film music, is an Indian film industry, based in the city of Mumbai (formerly Bombay). It is the largest film industry in the world in terms of box-office receipts. In 2008, it had a revenue of around US$1.8billion. In 2004, the Indian government listed Bollywood as India's third-largest domestic service sector, after the information technology and textile industries. Early history Bollywood's origins lie in the film colony in Kolhapur. Films were made there from the late 19th century and were shown in Bombay in the early 20th century. In the 1950s, the Bombay Talkies studio began a successful film production, and the first film to achieve critical and commercial success was Mehboob Khan's Mother India (1957). Bollywood's commercial success resulted in the establishment of a large industry of production, distribution, exhibition and promotion, and a nationwide network of multiplexes. Present The term Bollywood refers to the Hindi film industry in Mumbai and its environs. Bollywood has generated a large global industry and achieved almost cult status in parts of the Indian diaspora in Latin America and Europe. Its first feature film produced in Bollywood was Mehboob Khan's Mother India, released in 1957. Bollywood's first international release was Mughal-e-Azam, released in 1960, followed by such notable hits as Dilwale Dulhania Le Jayenge (The Bride's Beauty) (1995), Jab We Met (2007), and Hero (2008). In 2008, the film industry produced 101,161,510,000 film tickets. The industry had a revenue of ₹38,160.3 billion, equivalent to $5.8 billion in 2008 dollars.[10] Box office Bollywood has historically been the largest film industry in the world, and is the largest by box office receipts.
